THE BOSTON UNIVERSITY BIO-LAB CONTROVERSY

An invigorating discussion with one of last semester's problem-based learning (PBL) teams

Vicky Barr, Jeanine Mucci, Pam DeBono and Jackie Monteiro will share the unique nature of their self-directed, strategic thinking journey including its ill-defined beginnings, identifying the specific Bio Lab matter they wanted to tackle, the thinking strategies they used, their recommendations and solutions, and to whom to communicate their ideas.

Guaranteed, there's much to learn and talk about - not least of which is what fueled their motivation in the process of encountering "potholes" in their journey to help resolve a controversy that keeps making the news!

Not to be missed, so mark your calendars right away!
